Testing

App should open to the home page, with a wall of articles posted by other users.
Each post has a link to a corresponding wikipedia article, a blurb from the article (if provided), a comment, and the user who provided it.
Registering leads you to your profile.
If you are a new user your profile will be empty.
Singing in lead you to your profile.
If you have posts you should see a condensed version of all your previous posts, with an option to delete them.
Deleting a post removes it from your profile page and the home page.
"New post" should only be visible if you are a logged in user.
New Post lets you search fro wikipedia articles.
Each result contains a title, blurb (if provided), link, and form for submitting a comment.
Hitting post should navigate you to the front page, where your commented article will now be at the top.